

Training and Skills Development

The
Catalicity
Academy

Transformational Strategy for Transformational Times

From bespoke workshops to seminars Catalicity can develop the perfect engagement programme for your team at any stage of your strategic development. Whether you want to inspire fresh thinking that will transform your organisation, or ignite the passion for individuals to take genuine ownership of the challenges you set, getting your people on board is a crucial step in the process. We set up a space in which creative and critical thinking is both encouraged and enabled, helping people to generate ideas and teams to lay out the pathways needed to make them happen.

We can run your programmes in-house or at a venue of your choice, create all the necessary materials including bespoke workbooks, packages for digital use or games and activities to break your team free from their current mindset.

Topics covered can include absolute basics such as energy efficiency, waste management, the development of environmental management systems, or perhaps you wish to work on the big ideas around creating models for a circular economy, building collaborative projects or shaping a culture of innovation to grow your business.

The key element of this work is that its your team who have the best ideas for your business, all that is needed is a safe, facilitated space with the right expertise to draw them out and nurture them.

“Catalicity are definitely the thought leaders when it comes to sustainable business strategies - great workshop.”
Charlie McBroom, Fitted Commerce

Call today on 07985 610626
or email info@catalicity.com

Training, engagement and inspiration are part of the Catalicity Academy for Training and Skills Development which underpins our five streams to creating a fully embedded strategy.

© Sandra Norval 2017

We develop long term relationships so you can contact us when you are ready for the next stage on the development of your strategy, enabling your team to develop alongside your plans and ensure your objectives are achievable.

Talk to us now to plan your way forward!